Class History

By Dean Friesner

Due to the fact that I was not present when our class marched up the steps of the Primary building to Kindergarten back in 1919, I do not know the history for the first few years, but I am told that we had a large group, which you can verify by pictures that were taken of the group at that time. Do you remember them?

In 1920 we started our first year of elementary school, gradually learning our A, B, C's until we mastered Arithmetic, Geography, History, Reading, Spelling, etc., so by 1928 we were ready for High School.

This Freshman year introduced a new kind of school work, with which we were not well acquainted, and because of these things, time seemed to pass slowly. The number entering this year was increased by a large number of pupils from other townships. The total number was sixty eight, all these waiting to be escorted to our first Freshman classrooms, 227 and 117. Here we found Mr. Taggert and Mr. Claggett in the respective rooms. Mr. Claggett was a new teacher, who soon became a true friend to the whole class. We were well acquainted with Mr. Taggert due to his helpfulness in the 8th grade. In our classrooms we met new teachers, Miss Watters, Miss Stewart, Miss Martin and Mr. Robeson, who were just beginning their first year of teaching in Medina High. They too, have done much to guide us through our school work and our activities. Even though time went slowly the year passed by without a flaw.

While Freshmen we watched and respected with envious thoughts the prestige and importance of the Juniors and Seniors. Spanned between us and this rank of honor loomed our Sophomore year, to which we readily became accustomed, due to our previous year's experience. During the first semester unforseen pleasures developed. The second semester was saddened by the death of our friend and teacher Miss B. Houston.

As we entered our Junior year we assumed the responsibilities of "upper-classmen," such as editing the Annual and requiring respect from all "upper-classmen." We were very unfortunate in the untimely loss of our esteemed Class President, Dana L. Cole.

Thus we became dignified Seniors, our last year of High School, in which we sponsored a successful class play, "Gangway," due to the kind supervision of Miss Cooper, Mr. Conkle and the Faculty. Our thoughts now grew more serious as we realized the part we had to play in this creative world. We graduated in a group of sixty five, each fellow classman ready to go his way and keep the wheels of life rolling.

Valedictory

By Lawrence Prehn

As the thought comes to us, that we, the Class of 1932, are now leaving our Medina High School to whom we have all become attached, we are apt to wonder at the significance of such an act, for only occasionally shall we be able to come again within its friendly atmosphere and then, only as visitors.

There may be the thought that this is the end of our school days and, therefore, the end of our learning. It is true that we have finished our secondary school training, but it is also true that our education is far from being completed.

Our life, thus far, has been a continual educational process, which has progressed through three distinct stages, and this, our Commencement Day, marks the conclusion of the third stage. Permit me to trace the outlines of these stages and their inception.

The first had its beginning with our introduction into this world. Our task was to become acquainted with the world immediately about us, especially with those things which were most important to our welfare at that time. Becoming accustomed to our homes and every day adventuring forth into the new little worlds of our infantile perception under the patient guidance of our parents found us, after five years, with our horizon of existence much larger than it was when we first became aware of our surroundings.

The second stage of our life, or education, began when we entered school, where we came into contact with many more people whom we learned to know by name and appearance as well as by certain other characteristics. Advancing from grade to grade increased our activities. Our studies were fascinating. We were amazed to learn that the earth was saped like a ball and that it was spinning around and around, and that, although the sun appeared to be much smaller than the earth, it was, in reality, many times larger. New people were continually entering our lives and they, together with our study of other lands and their inhabitants, left their impression upon us. The horizon of our little world which had been expanding all the time began to widen out at a greatly increased rate, when we were promoted to high school.

Here, we were accorded many new privileges and the consequent responsibilities challenged the more intensive use of our mental powers. Here, too, we began to realize that our progress no longer depended so much upon our parents and teachers, but more and more upon our own ability and our willingness to apply it. This realization was further emphasized by our study of the languages and history of other men whose independence made them worthy of our attention. Unlimited fields, both concrete and abstract, were revealed in our study of mathematics, while chemistry and physics acquainted us with the complicated structures which constitute our planet.

Although the development of independence is very important, our life is interdependent in character, like that of a tree, for as a tree grows, it sends out new roots and branches, which, in turn, enable it to grow larger, and as we grow, when new things are acquired, they, in turn, furnish the foundation for our continued growth.

By the time we have finished high school our outlook has so broadened that our past life is beheld from a newer more mature viewpoint and we are able to see, at least dimly, the trend of our future education or life. This new period will be, or at least should be, one of greater expansion than has ever been experienced before, and having acquired the basic foundation of our education we should now continue building this broader life, for, according to that old adage: "It is never too late to learn," our opportunity for development is unlimited. Proof of this is shown by the fact that some of our greatest thinkers have passed their three score and ten and are still progressing energetically. This statement also shows us the importance of maintaining good health, for without good health, we cannot work to our greatest ability.

If we cannot work to our greatest ability at something which we like to do, our happiness will, certainly, not be at maximum. Furthermore, no career which any of the class of 1932 may choose to enter, can be efficiently carried on without specific training for the work which it entails. Our immediate task, therefore, is to obtain this training. In doing so, however, our sense of perspective must not be lost, for knowledge of vocations, other than our own, is not only desirable but, in many instances, helpful.

And so, as we separate tonight, each to obtain the additional training necessary for success in the vocation of his choice, let us remember that our horizon widens only when we climb, and that the climbing depends more and more upon our own power to move ourselves.

Let us not forget to express our sincere gratitude to those who have been instrumental in widening our horizon to its present extent.

In saying Farewell, we realize now, more than ever before, how much we really owe to our parents and teachers for their guidance to our present position. We can and will prove the truth of this statement by according to others the same degree of assistance for broadening their horizon that has been accorded to us.

Salutatory

By William Batchelder

It is with great pleasure that we, the Class of 1932, welcome you, our friends and relatives, here tonight.

Every member of our class realizes and appreciates to the fullest extent all that he owes to his parents, friends, members of the faculty and of the School Board, and all who have made possible the erection and maintenance of this fine school plant which affords such splendid educational facilities. This debt is one which we can never hope to repay in full, but it is our determination to strive to become respected members of society so that none of you will ever regret the labors and worries which you have expended on our behalf. Indeed, were it not for the constant encouragement and never-failing aid which you have so generously extended to us it would have been impossiblse for us to be here at all.

Our four years of high school have been happy ones and we may certainly consider them well spent. In fact, it might be said, that we have now learned enough to know that we really know nothing, which, after all, is the first pre-requisite to an education.

Under the present industrial and economic conditions, it is a well known fact that unless a person has a good, well balanced education he is hopelessly handicapped. It used to be that a man possessing superior scholastic training was the exception; and, as such, was entitled to an easy living. Today, the same type is the rule and, far from being handed a soft job for life, he must scratch as hard as anyone else for his bread and butter. An education was once a luxury; now it is a necessity.

Education, in itself, is nothing; one must know how to use it. True education must develop character in the individual as well as skill and mental capacity. Industry, honesty, temperance, perseverance, dependability and kindred virtues are more essential to success today than ever before; one must possess these qualities before he can even hope to compete on an even scale with others. Under our present system one must either be prepared to fulfill one's duties absolutely to the letter, or give way to some one else who can.

We, the Class of 1932, realize all this and are only the more determined to go out into the world and do our best at whatever we may attempt, no matter how lowly it may be.

We must not, however, think that by success we mean the mere accumulation of money. If it has done nothing else, the chaos in the economic world which has effected so many changes in our idea of what we once considered the fundamentals, has given us a severe jolt in regard to what we thought was a successful man or woman. We now realize that, though a reasonable amount of money is necessary to happiness, the act of possessing it, in itself, means nothing. We now realize just how unstable monetary values are, and are just beginning to appreciate these things which money can not buy. It is to be hoped that when money again becomes as plentiful as it once was, that we will be able to retain our sense of values which a great many of us have obtained at such a great cost, and will be able to retain our appreciation of the arts and all the beautiful things of life.

Let us hope that the main characteristics of our civilization in the future may be a perfect balance between the arts and the more material things. Let us hope that we will strive to develop ourselves to as great an efficiency in the arts or at least in the appreciation of them as we now work to attain in those things from which we think we can see an ultimate monetary return. We must remember that gold is worth only what it can buy and, as far as it concerns those things which it can't buy, it is worthless. This is where our high schools enter in, for, in such institutions, we learn to value things according to their true worth, not by their exteriors, pretentious though they may be, but by their true characteristics, the real essentials. Though many people think that "book-learning," as they call it, is a useless thing, who can say that it doesn't awaken qualities, desirable qualities, which otherwise would lie dormant within us, leaving us and the world poorer for it. After all, when one gets down to the basic purpose of our high schools, are they not in existence mainly to make better citizens, better men and women of us all?

The need for good citizens is being felt more and more, especially under present conditions, not only in this country, but all over the world. As we look about us and see the condition of the world, our crippled economic system which denies millions of willing people the right to work, our archaic political system, and our social system which, at the very least, is badly bent, we can appreciate, in times like these, just how much clear thinking men and women of good character and high ideals are worth to us. We can be thankful that our high schools have done so much to develop these desirable traits in our future citizens by the excellent training and guidance they have given them. Undoubtedly, many potential leaders have remained followers simply because they were never given a chance to develop their abilities.

May I close by again welcoming you here, and by hoping that you will enjoy our Commencement Exercises this evening; that you will remember that as we participate in them, we do so, realizing that only through your generosity are these Exercises made possible.

Class Prophecy

By Jim Brown

Have you ever spent an evening sitting at home reminiscing and looking over old books and reminders of bygone days? This is just what I did on the night of June 2, 1947. It was a rainy night and perfect for such a pastime. As I sat in my easy chair, looking into the fire, my mind went back to the day of my graduation from Medina High.

Only twenty-five years ago, but it seemed like fifty, so much had taken place. Hastily I took the 1932 Medinian from the shelf and settled back into the chair for some enjoyable memories. It fell open at the pictures of the Senior class. There was Louise Ainsworth; Peasy is now in Cuba enjoying the millions she had acquired. Sue Anderson is with her and what a pair! Lucille Arnold is now a famous actress on Broadway. Merle Auker, Lyman Koons, Milford Harley and Earl Buchanan run the N. A. T. Air Lines. Duane Babcock and Harold Bennett are both happily married and big business men. Helen Babcock is now teaching school in New York. Let's see, Dud Bagley is a great cook on the Cunard Lines with Iola Swift as assistant. Billy Batchelder was also in our class, he owns half of New York. I rent my office from him. Leila Beedle, Phebe Cross, Mildred Curtis and Ruth Mugrage are all working in the office of Paul Blumenstein, America's foremost high pressure salesman. Ha! there is blushing Stanley Edward's picture; Stan is now out on the California Coast selling coonskin coats. Sue McMillan is coaching Physical Education at Columbia with Irene Oleksa as her assistant. Clayton Oberholtzer and John Navratil are coaches at Yale and Harvard respectively, what a pair! Frances Rockwell and Rae Root are owners of the best Night Club in Paris. Erwin Rickard and Dean Friesner own the outstanding grocery and drug stores of Medina. Evelyn Navratil, Evelyn Oberholtzer and Mary Ostaff are at the head of the accounting departments of the New York Life Insurance Company. Harold Musch, Charles Jacot and Angus Maitland are flying for Century Air Lines. Lawrence Prehn has the greatest Engineering Correspondence School ever known, with Andy Hammerschmidt as his Vice President, Mary Pucsok, Helen Rollins, Clara Pfanenschwarz and Helen Schwenk are with Ziegfeld's Follies in New York. Harold Potts didn't follow in his father's footsteps. He is selling electric stoves to the Eskimos. Carl Failor is selling Fords for Henry, with Bill Whitney one jump ahead of him in argumentative points. Earl Foote is now selling real estate. Bob Gable, John Galla and John Hood are great experimental Agriculturists. Alice Goodale is a great organist in the Paramount Theatre in New York. Lucille Krug, Clara Helma and Dorothy Gordon have a Coffee Shop on Park Avenue, New York. Frank Kuder is Heavy Weight Champion of the world. Bessie Lyon and Alice Selzer are style models for Montgomery Ward. Myron Kennedy is head of the Agricultural Department of Ohio State University. Tommy Sviatko took all the prizes at the last World's Fair with his farm products. Dorothy Wilber is private secretary for Ann Yesensky, America's outstanding journalist. Jack Thomas is now head of the sales department for the Studebaker firm in New York City. Edith Short and Ruth Winters own a Millinery Shop in Chicago. Bob Way is a renowned veterinary. My wife took Pon Pon (her imported Chinese Collie) to him; Bob clipped his toenails and charged twenty-five dollars. I clipped them myself after that. What do you think I found written in Who's Who? Two of the world's greatest attorneys at law. Velma Wolery and Lucille Wacker.

So ends another evening spent at home too; it was an exception.

Class Will

WE, of the Class of 1932, of Medina High School, of Medina County, of Medina, Ohio, being of sound minds and memories and in full possession of our mental faculties, do hereby make our last and only Will.

I, Merle Auker, cheerfully bequeath my art of spelling correctly to Homer Wolf, with the restriction that he use it to assist 229 maintain her high record, when he reaches the senior state.

I, Susan Anderson, disconsolately give up my sophisticated drawl to Irene Buchanan, to be used when elucidating delicate points in history class.

I, Leila Beedle, obligingly bestow my preoccupied air upon Edwin Piper, with the hope that he will find it helpful in embarrassing moments.

I, Harold Bennett, urge my alertnes in English class upon Howard Higgins, thinking perhaps, it will ward off the sandman in Miss Martin's Spanish class.

I, Paul Blumenstein, bequeath my agreeableness to Bill Hammerschmidt.

I, James Brown, will my interest in the Medical Profession to Willard Cowling.

I, Earl Buchanan, gently bestow my soft voice upon Harold Jason.

I, Phebe Cross, endow Margaret Abbott with my lady-like demeanor.

I, Carl Failor, obligingly leave my aptness in forgetting my history lesson to Harold Holcomb.

WE, Stanley Edwards and John Hood, hopefully combine our becoming blushes for Bill Hartman.

I, Earle Foote, joyfully present my expertness in handling a typewriter to Frank Britt.

I, John Galla, surrender my ability to bring the girls to my feet to Bob Heiss.

I, Robert Gable, give my dramatic ability to any Junior who is badly in need of it.

I, Alice Goodale, bequeath my eloquence to Babe Kelser.

I, Dorothy Gordon, bestow my knack of receiving a letter every day to Ruth Benjamin.

I, Clara Helma, present my moody gaze to Christine Gage.

I, Myron Kennedy, impart my little eccentricity of carrying a certain picture in my pocketbook to Dwight Tubbs.

I, Lyman Koons, bequeath my importance to Mannie Ecker.

I, Lucille Krug, endow Ruth Armstrong with my stenographic ability.

I, Frank Kuder, confer my leaning toward pugilism to Arza Halliwell.

I, Ann Yesensky, bestow my "temper-ment" upon Isabelle West, to be used on the basketball team next year.

I, Bessie Lyons, bequeath my immaculate neck to Eloise Henniger.

I, Angus Maitland, endow Keith Slabaugh with my weakness for the gentler sex.

I, Sue McMillan, bestow my sweet disposition upon Helen Snyder.

I, Ruth Mugrage, present my skeptical smile to Agnes Guynn.

I, Harold Musch, surrender my lovely sun-tan to Marcel Hoff, provided he never allows it to fade perceptibly.

I, John Navratil, give my ability to shatter feminine hearts without mercy to Wayne Beedle.

I, Clayton Oberholtzer, will my bashfulness to Harry Indoe to be used in Mr. Fenn's classes.

I, Evelyn Oberholtzer, present my broad knowledge of Civics to any promising junior.

I, Irene Oleska, endow Mary Gable with my ability to stare impertinent people into docility.

I, Mary Ostaff, present Korena Barrow with my ability to translate Russian songs.

I, Clara Pfanenschwarz, surrender the P, C, and H, of my name to Bob Eby.

I, Harold Potts, give my cunningness at cracking the lady in front of me on the back of the head with my desk lid, to Maynard Pelton.

I, Lawrence Prehn, hopefully impart my "concentration wrinkles" to Lloyd Hoff.

I, Helen Rollins, impart two of my healthiest freckles to Pauline Hartwell.

I, Rae Root, present my cunning chuckle to June Lincoln.

I, Helen Schwenk, obligingly bequeath my tip-tilty nose to Virginia Tillar.

I, Alice Selzer, will my ability to twist poetry during English recitation, to Betty Koons.

I, Andy Hammerschmidt, bequeath my soprano laughter to Allen Booth.

I, Edith Short, will my prowess as a seamstress to Margaret Neumeyer.

I, Iola Swift, yield my strict discipline over Dudley to any Junior who feels herself capable of the task.

I, John Thomas, present my mild temper to John Pusta.

I, Lucille Arnold, present my stately swagger to Doris Kennedy.

I, Lucille Wacker, yield my excess avoirdupois to Audine Snyder.

I, Robert Way, present Ruth Mabry with my peaches and cream complexion.

I, William Whitney, will my pipe to any sophomore who is man enough for it.

I, Betty Winter, bestow my ability to wear my Empress Eugenie hat at a unique angle to Jean Halderson.

I, Ruth Winter, bestow my success with Spanish to Gordon Kisner, to be used next year.

I, Velma Wolery, bequeath my self-contained manner to Margaret Bachelder.

I, Dorothy Wilber, surrender my strictly individual laugh to Polly Anderson.

I, Frances Rockwell, yield my knowing quirk in my left eyebrow to Pete Koppes, provided it is not used to captivate freshmen as heretofore.

I, Thomas Sviatko, bestow my hog-calling ability upon Pauline Perkins.

I, Helen Babcock, impart my "speak when you're spoken to and then softly" philosophy to Ramona Renner.

I, Mary Puscok, bequeath my bored expression to Pauline Charlton.

I, Duane Babcock, will my hair-trigger sense of humor to Dennis Dannley.

I, Billy Batchelder, give my perfect Spanish pronunciation to Louise Griesinger.

I, Dudley Bagley, will my sturdy crop of whiskers to any covetous freshman.

I, Erwin Rickard, generously bequeath my natural golden waves to Elizabeth McMillan, realizing that she might make use of them after her permanent has grown out.

I, Louise Ainsworth, present my famous nonchalance to Ida Britt.

I, Mildred Curtis, am delighted to provide that my ability to outjump all centers be divided equally between Virginia Halderson and Mae Maitland.

WE, The Class, provide that all the extra credits of Senior classmen be sold at auction, the proceeds of which, to go to make a fund for a hospital for nerve-wrecked faculty members.

THEREFORE, after careful weighing of the matter and due consideration, We, The United Senior Class, have and do firmly believe that, "Where there is a Will there is a—lawsuit and in witness whereof we have hereunto subscribed our name this second day of June, 1932, A. D. at Medina, Ohio.

"CLASS OF 1932."

MILDRED CURTIS, '32.

Class Song

TUNE: Carry Me Back to Old Virginia.

We want to go back to Old Medina High;
There's where our studying and hardwork began.
There's where we made friends, each with the other;
There's where our old hearts are longing to roam.
That's the place where we learned what we know,
Day after day in the fields of thought—
No place on earth do we love more sincerely,
Than Old Medina High, the place that's loved by all.

—ERWIN RICKARD.

SYNOPSIS OF THE SCENE

By Frances Rockwell

A three-act comedy. Scenes—Living room of the Palmer home and in Mr. Stoddard's business office in Oakmont. Time—The present. Place—A middle western town.

Synopsis of the Story

Melford Palmer, who has just lost his position in Baines' Book Store, is about to drive his mother into a nervous prostration and to lose his supposed sweetheart, Valeria Morton, to his rival, Percy Manship, because of his slowness both in speech and in mind. As a remedy for this, Jimmy Falk, who is Mel's best friend, formulates a plan to be carried out by Elmer Stoddard, a successful business man, and his secretary, Myrial Vernon, assisted by his office clerk, Hazel Jackson.

The climax of the experiment is reached when A. B. Merkle, a blustering customer, is very effectively subdued by the aggressive actions of the former quiet book-store employee.

Although working against the odds of an angry ex-employer, Melford, with the assistance of Myrial, in whom he is deeply interested by this time, finds his proper place in the business world and all ends happily.

Commencement

By Ann Yesensky

Memory still wafts before our eyes,
Like the scent of sweet May flowers,
That fair day of unclouded skies,
When we bade farewell to the hours

Of happiness together we had spent.
When gone is youth's dear dower,
And we all are old and gray,
Still in our hearts that hour
Will linger and fondly stay.

JUNIOR A CLASS HISTORY

Three years ago, in the fall of 1929, about seventy-five boys and girls entered M. H. S. as Freshmen. Since that time the class of '33 has been active in all sports and social activities of the high school.

This year was a lucky one for the class in basketball. Both the boys and the girls defeated their opponents in the Inter-class meet.

SENIOR B HISTORY

We, the Class of '33 entered Medina High School as industrious Freshmen and have successfully traveled the steep grade which has been ahead of us.

We hope to leave a very good record for Medina High by living up to her ideals.

JUNIOR B HISTORY

By Fern Auble

We entered Medina High School as eighth "graders." The hustling of the older "kids" made us shy but ambitious, consequently we are now brave Junior B's.

We have several musicians who play in the band and the orchestra.

The girls, as well as the boys, are promising athletes and we hope to accomplish much in the two remaining years at M. H. S.

P. S.—Just a note to tell the world we enjoyed our class party, and thanks to the remarkable sportsmanship of every one—we are all exceptionally fine dancers!

If our word isn't proof enough, ask the Faculty (?)

CLASS HISTORY

Velma Kelser

We have risen from foolish, inexperienced Freshmen to sedate, intelligent Sophomores, and in doing so we have shown marked improvement.

We were not surprised in finding among our members many remarkable athletes as well as musicians of ability, who have contributed liberally of their talents.

Very early in the year we met to elect our officers. The results were:

President.....BILLY HARTMAN
Vice President.....DENNIS DANNLEY
Secretary.....VELMA KELSER
Treasurer.....RUTH ARMSTRONG

Next year, though we are Juniors, we will carry on with our high scholastic ideals and our Sophomore spirit of Pep and Good Sportsmanship.

SOPHOMORE B CLASS HISTORY

By Mary Louise Long

At last we are something besides so-called green Freshmen, although we have yet to attain that air of sophistication common to the upper classmen.

Our class is not exceptional in any respect, yet we try to do our best in whatever small way we can, for the glory of our beloved High School.

The class officers are as follows:

President.....ROBERT WIDEMAN
Vice President.....ROBERT ADAMS
Secretary.....ISABELLE SIMMERMAN
Treasurer.....MANNIE ECKER

We have contributed to the great field of athletics and also to the band and orchestra. From our twenty boys and seven girls, we hope for and expect a lot in the next several years.

HISTORY

By Isabelle Simmerman

Sixty-seven young Freshies entered Medina High early in September, 1931. Of course, every one was initiated in some way, but the fish pond played an important business in our chastisement.

We held a class meeting and the following officers were elected: President, Robert Wideman; vice president, Robert Adams; Secretary, Isabelle Simmerman; treasurer, Mannie Ecker.

We have had one Hard Times Party celebrating the end of the depression. We have already found a surprising amount of talent in our class and more is coming to light every day. Just give us time—we'll leave a record well worth remembering in the future.

1B CLASS ROLL

1B CLASS HISTORY

It seemed like a long hard road ahead all the way up from Kindergarten days to High School, but at length the goal was reached and Miss Adkins, taking pity on us, gave us the final push over the precipice, landing us into our place as Freshmen B's.

Of course you couldn't really say we were green because we had been in the high school building for two years, but in order that we might feel even more at home, and yet not lose sight of the fact that we were merely Freshmen, we were informed that our home room would be in the Biology laboratory which is also the home of the other "Poor Fishes".

Although we did not particularly distinguish ourselves in athletics this year, we have promising material for the coming seasons. We have a number of musicians in the class and four are already in the band and orchestra.

The class officers are as follows:

President.....NADA WILDER
Vice President.....LENORE O'BRIEN
Secretary.....JOE FODOR
Treasurer.....RALPH ADAMS

In four happy years, when we shall have at last reached that exalted place which you now occupy, "O Lordly Seniors", may it be said of us that never once did we fail to carry on the spirit of Medina High School.

HIGH SCHOOL MUSIC NOTES

By Ballard Butdorff

I hear that there has been a new interest taken in music this year, thanks to the new Music Supervisor, Mr. Hesser.

The Band and Orchestra have grown from small numbers to large groups of talented musicians.

Both the Band and Orchestra have played for special meetings in the community, some of which were: The Community Chest Drive; Kiwanis Club dinners: and the Spanish-American War Veterans Reunion. They have also played for many of the football and basketball games.

Also, Mr. Hesser has organized a High School Chorus consisting of forty-five talented singers.

A double trio of three sopranos and three altos has been formed. The sopranos are Betty Brereton, Lucille Arnold and Pauline Charlton. The altos are Jean Halderson, Christine Gage and Maxine Snyder. They have started out with success and give good promises for the future.

The Spring Music Festival held in the High Schol Auditorium in May completed a very successful music season.

HIGH SCHOOL CHORUS

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

By Julia Baish

Medina High School had an exceptionally gay social season this year. The Seniors opened the season by having a very successful party in which a number of the year's "Debutantes" "came out". The Juniors boarded their seaworthy ship, "The Jolly Junior", and outdid the Seniors in fun and refreshments. They even found hidden talent in an excellent pianist and two chefs (white aprons and all.) The younger set, the Sophomores and Freshmen, both had very enjoyable evenings at their "Proms" and showed the Upper Classmen that it was possible for them to entertain quite as well as their elders. So the fun of the students is not confined to the classroom, alone. This shows the real spirit of Medina High.

JUNIOR-SENIOR BANQUET

"Soft lights and sweet music"—Such was the setting for one of the biggest moments in the life of every beautifully dressed Junior and Senior girl and of every flannel-clad Junior and Senior boy. The Banquet and Dancing came up to everyone's expectations.

THE HIGH SCHOOL PICNIC

All the lemons squeezed,
  All the sandwiches made,
The ice cream will freeze,
  Most the bills are paid.

Off to Chippewa Lake
  In Cadillacs and Model "T's".
Just for old-times sake;
  The Froshs and Sophs pay for the Spree.

The water is cold,
  And the fish won't bite;
Still, these all told,
  There's fun all right!

The salad is good,
  And the meat is well.
No more food,
  But it's just as well.

Baseball games are over
  And the dance is on,
No one can stay under cover—
  Everyone joins in the fun.

Now it makes no difference
  If you're Freshmen or Sophomores,
You are shown no deference
  By the Juniors or Seniors.

The teen age (Girl Reserves) members of the Y. W. C. A. carried out their project the first semester in the usual way—three groups: Handicraft, Charm School and Dramatics.

There was a little more activity the second semester. It was decided to carry out a form of "World Fellowship" by studying a different country each month, Hungary, Ireland, Russia and Japan. Each of the three groups studied a different phase and at the end of each month managed to convey their accomplishments and knowledge in dances, plays, talks, and even pastries (Yum!). As the months rolled by the number of pages in our Book of Adventure decreased and at last came the final chapter—the "Mother and Daughter Banquet", a dinner with an international theme. Thus, the group of sixty girls completed a most successful year, in 1931-32.

The Hi-Y group consisted of thirty members under the leadership of Mr. Fenn and Mr. Claggett. The total time was given over to "Vocations". Men of all professions talked to the group on that subject.

Three delegates attended the Ohio State Older Boys' Conference at Dayton. They were Larry Newberry, Erwin Rickard and Jimmy Brown.

For added interest, several trips were made and the year was ended by a picnic supper at Camp Crag.

VOCATIONAL AGRICULTURE NOTES

By Marcel Hoff

The aim of the Vocational Agriculture course in our high school is to interest the student in the field of argiculture and also to acquaint him with the future and opportunities in agriculture. Medina High school offers four years of Agriculture and one of Farm Shop. Each student carries on some project at his home which is related to the study of agriculture in school. One and one fourth credit is given each year for this work.

The enrollment in the department was the largest of any year in the history of the department, with thirty-eight boys taking the course. Animal Husbandry and Poultry were studied by the Freshmen and Sophomores this year. The Juniors and Seniors studied Soils and Management. Next year Farm Crops and Horticulture and Agricultural Engineering will be given.

During the four years each boy is given the opportunity to participate in several activities, such as making the various judging teams, exhibiting various products at fairs, speaking in public contests or working in the Future Farmers Organization.

Community work is carried on by the department, such as spraying orchards, testing seed corn, and testing soils and milk. The boys also run experiments on their school farm and orchard to back up their scientific study.

This year the boys purchased two acres of potatoes, harvested and marketed them, and they realized a profit of over one hundred dollars. With this money they hope to take a bus trip East this summer. Mr. Duke will take this trip with them and is helping them plan it.

Won—7 Lost—4 Tied—1

M. H. S. with five lettermen back, had a very successful season considering the victory over the Alumni and the experience of most of the players.

Although not winning the league title, they put up a hard fight by only losing two games in the league, and to New London and Wellington.

This spring, Coach Masi has announced the beginning of spring football for the building up of next year's squad. All this will be is the brushing up on the fundamentals. The following lettermen will be missing next fall: Captain Oberholtzer, Navratil, Harley, Potts, Blumenstein, Maitland, Thomas and Carter.

L. E. Captain Oberholtzer—a good man on defense as well as offense, and fast in covering punts. We surely will miss him next fall on the gridiron.

L. T. Johnnie Navratil—a hard man to take out of a play. He could either open a hole in a brick wall or stand pat for any bombardment that came his way.

L. G. Hig Higgins—although late in learning the game he showed his ability when he did get going. Though light for a guard, he held his ground. A great prospect for next year.

C. Lloyd Hoff—an accurate passer and center peg of the line. There was no game too rough for him! He could stop any center rush.

R. G. Paul Blumenstein—a big, husky guard. When players hit him they thought they had hit a stone wall.

R. T. Bill Wilkey—a new player to the game, but at the end of the season he knew the game like a veteran.

R. E. Bus Kaufman—a first year man, but he showed his ability in taking out his man in end runs.

Q. Bill Hartman—the signal barker of the team, and a reliable punter. A man the team depended on to take them out of tough spots.

R. H. Bob Potts—the smallest man on the team. A clever runner and a neat tackler for his size. We will miss him next fall.

L. H. Jimmie Carter—a fast and slippery runner in carrying the ball for many gains that resulted in touchdowns.

F. Miff Harley—an all around player, playing from guard to fullback. He was a hard line plunger and took the spirit out of many of the teams.

F. Jack Thomas—a hard tackler and a good blocker, who paved the way for many gains.

Half. Gus Maitland—a great ball carrier who made many long gains for his team.

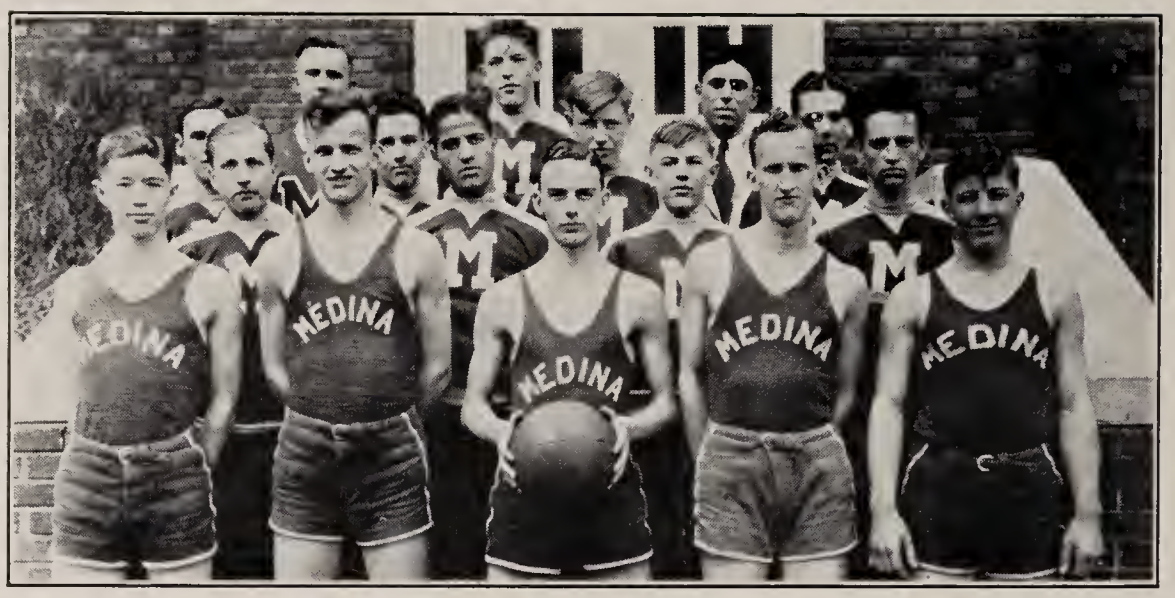
Half. Son Anderson—a reliable player to take the pigskin for many long rides up the field.

G. Effus Newberry—a very shifty guard, who outclassed his opponents by his clean and clever tactics.

C. Dud Bagley—a center that the team could depend on to pass the ball with accuracy. No stone wall was ever too strong to hold him back.

T. Pete Rodgers—a heavy and powerful tackle that any team would be glad to have.

E. Steve West—a dangerous pass receiver, and could always be depended on to stop end runs.



BASKETBALL SQUAD

BASKETBALL 1931-32

By Howard Higgins

This year's basketball season was fairly successful but it could have been much better. At times, our team looked like world beaters and at other times they looked very poor. We were a home floor team as we lost only two games on our own floor, while away from home we won only one. Even at that, we outscored our opponents by over fifty points.

We also had a good lightweight squad which won most of its games.

In interclass basketball the Juniors won by defeating the Sophomores 10-9.

The following players received letters: Captain Brown, Lloyd Hoff, Marcel Hoff, Oberholtzer, Navratil, Hartman, Higgins, West and Galla.

CAPTAIN JIM BROWN—Forward

Jim has been our main offensive cog for the last two years and has been high point man both times. He handled the ball well and kept it moving all the time. Jim has been on the squad three years and we will miss him next year.

MARCEL HOFF—Center

Marcel jumped center and controlled the tip-off most of the time. He was not a high scorer but he was a good team man and good on defense. He has been our regular center for the last two years.

LLOYD HOFF—Forward

Lloyd was our other forward and he surely kept Jim hustling to be high point man for the season. Lloyd, a regular last year, was good for six or seven points every game. He has another year yet and should be a wizard before he graduates.

CLAYTON OBERHOLTZER—Guard

Funny has played regular for three years and ended his athletic career at M. H. S. at the end of the first semester. Funny was floor guard and handled the ball well. He was the steadying force when the game got close, and we missed him after he left.

JOHN NAVRATIL—Guard

Johnny was our other guard who graduated in January. He was the best defense man M. H. S. has seen in the last few years, even though he was handicapped by a trick knee. He was a letter man last year, also.

HOWARD HIGGINS—Guard

Hig was our most reliable guard after the first semester. He could stop a fast play while on defense and start a faster one on offense. Hig has two more years and should be one of Medina's best guards. (By Brown)

BILL HARTMAN—Guard

Bill, a sophomore, developed quickly into a good guard. He did not play regular until the second semester but he surely made up for it then. He has two years to go yet and should show plenty of stuff.

STEVE WEST—Forward

Steve was a utility player and could capably fill any position on the team. He was by rights a forward but he played guard as well as center whenever the occasion demanded. He has two more years.

JOHN GALLA—Guard

Palooka was a good offensive guard and could pot a long one. In the Amherst game he sank two long ones that took the heart out of the opponents. This was his first and last year at Medina.

BOB POTTS—Forward

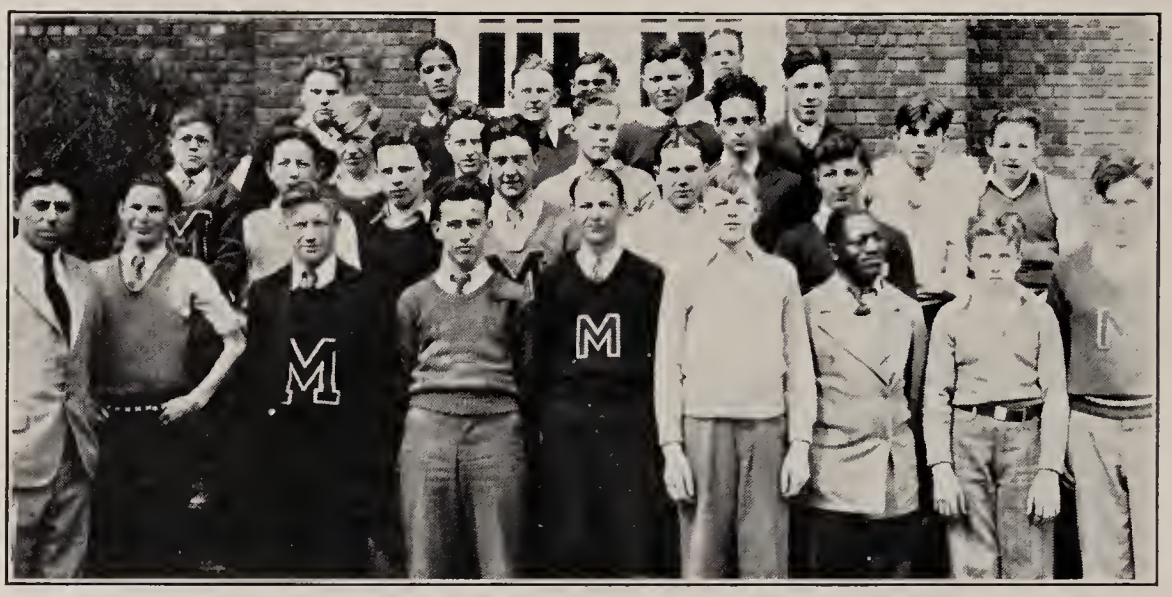
Bobby was our most reliable substitute. He did not receive a letter because he was forced to leave school on account of illness. He showed his gameness by playing in a game just two days before his operation.



BASEBALL 1932

April 22	There	Amherst
April 29	Here	Open Date
May 7	There	Elyria
May 13	Here	Amherst
May 20	There	Wooster
May 26	Here	Wooster

Medina Hi should produce a winning baseball team this year. We have a large turn-out and have lost but a few letter-men. The boys are very enthusiastic.

EARL BUCHANAN, 1933—"Buck"

Buck is our center-fielder and can be relied on to stop everything coming his way.

PAUL BLUMENSTEIN, 1932—"Paul"

Paul plays right-field and is good on long flies.

JACK THOMAS, 1932—"Jack"

Jack is our regular left-handed pitcher. He has a lot of steam and a nice hook ball.

JIMMY CARTER, 1933—"Jimmy"

Jimmy is playing his last season. He stops hot ones that come between second and third.

JIM BROWN, 1932—"Midge"

Midge is our second baseman. He is a fast fielder.

HAROLD POTTS, 1932—"Harold"

Harold is our shortstop. It is a hard job to get a ball past him.

RAYMOND EWING, 1933—"Ray"

Ray is our left fielder. He is great on the flies.

PAUL AYLARD, 1933—"Paul"

Paul is our third baseman. He is a fair batter.

KENNETH KIRK, 1933—'Kenny"

Kenny plays second. He is good at stopping grounders and a good batter.

EVERETT WISE, 1934—"Ev"

Ev is our right-handed pitcher. He has a fast ball and good control. We are expecting a lot of him.

RAY GORDON, 1934—"Ray"

Ray is our catcher. This is his second year. His specialty is pegging them to second.

BILL HARTMAN, 1934—"Bill"

Bill is our first baseman, this is his first year and we are depending on him.

STEVE WEST, 1934—"Steve"

Steve is a good fielder. This is his second year.

BOB SMITH, 1934—"Bob"

Bob has had one year of experience behind the old bat and we are expecting a great deal of him.

ALLEN BOOTH, 1933—"Booth"

Booth is our catcher, this is his second year and he should prove a valuable man.

JOHN HOOD, 1932—"Johnny"

Johnny is our right-handed pitcher. He plays a good field and is a heavy hitter.

QUINTON THOMAS, 1934—"Quinine"

Quinine is a fielder. He has two more seasons for the Green and White.

WILLIAM WILKEY, 1933—"Bill"

Bill is our first baseman. He is a fair hitter and is good on fast grounders.

Robert Perrin, Richard Gayer, William Wilcox, Merle Fredrick and Bert Crocker are "freshies" this year and will be expected to do much in the coming seasons.

CHARLES JENNINGS, 1934—"Chuck"

Chuck plays the catching position. This is his first year.

VARSITY TRACK

By Lloyd Hoff

The track squad started training April 18, 1932. Over twenty-five men reported. We have six lettermen back from the championship team that won the cup last year. These lettermen, with the aid of the new members and our very capable coaches, Mr. Claggett and Mr. Masi, should have very little trouble retaining the hard earned Trophy. We have no important meets scheduled until the League Meet at Oberlin. The following names are those of boys who are out, working for a place on the team:

KOONS

"Koony" is our Senior pole vaulter. He has won many points for M. H. S. and is certain to do his share—pole vault, broad jump.

HOFF

This is "Marcel's" fourth and last year to run the dashes for M. H. S. He's sure to make it his best year. 100 yd., 220 yd., half mile relay.

BENNETT

"Bengy" is another letterman back. He's a good high jumper. High jump, javelin.

JONES

"Ted" is our flashy sophomore. He's certain to pile up a lot of points. 100 yd., 220 yd., half mile relay.

HARTMAN

"Bill" won a letter last year by his good broad jumping. We're glad he's only a Sophomore. Discus, Broad Jump, Shot putt.

PREHN

This is "Prehn's" last year. He's anxious to beat his old records. Mile and half mile relays.

FOOTE

"Earl" is a Senior who is out to help keep the Trophy. Mile and half mile relays.

CLEMENT

"Clem" has been tearing up the track for the last two years and now he's back again. Half mile and 440 yd.

HOFF

This is "Lloyd's" third year. He expects to outdo some old records. We're glad he has another year with M. H. S. 220 yd., hurdles and discus.—(Lester M.)

THOMAS

"Jack" is a Senior who is out to assist the team by throwing the javelin. We're glad to have his help.

ADAMS

This is "Bob's" second year. He is a promising pole vaulter. We expect a lot from him. Pole vault and broad jump.

BLUMENSTEIN

"Paul" says that anyone who beats him will have to toss the weights quite a distance. We're sorry he is a Senior. Shot putt and discus.

FULTON

"Claire" is a Sophomore, dash man, who has been showing lots of speed. 100 yd., 220 yd. dashes.

FAVRI

"Bob" is a Sophomore, who is developing into a pole vaulter. He has plenty of time to improve. Pole vault, discus.

WILKEY

This is "Roy's" first year on the squad, and he is showing plenty of action. Half mile relays.

THOMAS

"Quinine" is out for his first year. We expect a lot from him. Half mile, shot putt. .

ROBERTS

"Eddie" is another Sophomore who should develop into a good high jumper.

HAMLIN

"Howard" has three more years yet and promises to make himself heard from. 100 yd., 220 yd. dashes.

INDOE

"Harry" is a Sophomore. He works hard and should get good results. Discus, half mile.

COVER

"Glenn" is a Freshman and is out working hard for the dashes.

LANCE

"Lance" has three years yet and we're certain he'll develop into a runner. Half mile, 220 yd.

BASKETBALL NOTES

Contrary to the traditions of the past years, we have not considered the "Rabbit Foot" and the "Teddy Bear" as worthy mascots and so have kicked them off the team. Although we haven't lived up to our past record we still have enough determination to start a new one. It is said, "Success is not measured by the number of games won and lost. Defeats are merely stepping stones to Success." So we are hoping for a very successful year in '33.

Because there were so many on the squad this year, twenty in all, it is impossible to write up every one, so the Seniors are being glorified, as that is the main purpose of the annual. Eight Seniors are graduating this year and taking all the regulars with them, with the exception of one Junior, Wanda Koppes.

"ANN"

Our Honorary Captain this year was Ann Yesensky. She has been on the Varsity three years as a guard and has been a very aggressive player. She has certainly earned the honor of being chosen Honorary Captain for the year.

"RAE"

This was Rae's third year on the Varsity also, and she has shown us what true sportsmanship can be. Being little is a big handicap in Basketball but Rae didn't let that bother her.

"SUE"

We were certainly lost the second semester for a while after Sue McMillan left us. She always pulled us through in a tight pinch and we admire her for coming out this year although she could only play three games with us.

"FRAN"

We could always hear some good jokes in the locker room when our center guard was around. Frances could certainly stop her forward from putting in many baskets too. We are hoping that she will play the game of life as well as she did that of basketball.

"SUE"

This was Sue Anderson's second year and we only wish she were going to be with us next year, because when she made up her mind to play she showed us she had the old fight.

"CURT"

Our center was always on the job. Mildred could always be counted on to do her part. She got a lot of knocks and criticism but she faced them with a smile.

"MYRIA"

Mary Pucsok, our forward, also had the handicap of being quite small, although she could boast of an inch or two over Rae. In Mary we found another Sue McMillan and were certainly relieved to see that Mary could also put in the baskets. We hope she does everything as thoroughly and as squarely as she played basketball.

"EV"

Evelyn was another Senior who, although this was the first year she had tried out for basketball, became one of the best. We hope some of the material for the coming year will improve as much as Evelyn did.

The Seniors have done their best in making this year a successful one for our girls' basketball team and we hope we can do as well next year in playing the game fairly and squarely to bring victories for Medina High.

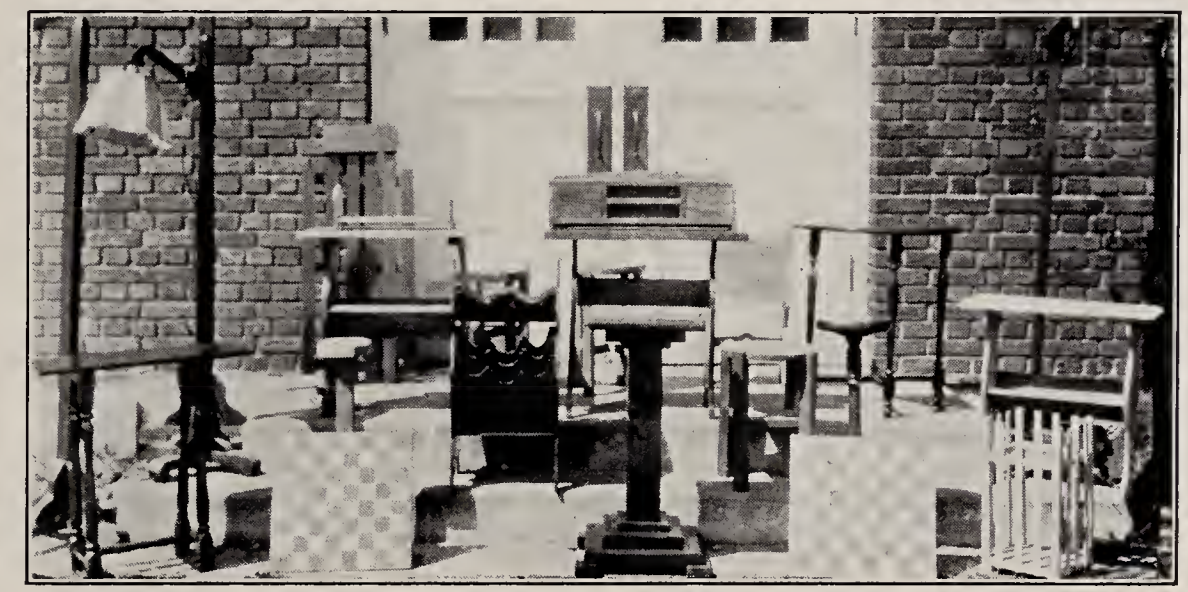
GIRLS' INTRAMURAL

Great interest has been taken during the school year in Inter-gym class activities, under the direction of Miss Allen. The winter months offered basketball with the inter-class tournaments. The first game of this meet was won by the Juniors with a score of 15 against that of 11 for the Freshmen. The Sophomore-Senior game had the score of 16-3 in favor of the Sophomores. The Junior-Sophomore game was won by the Juniors with a score of 19-15. Then the attention was turned to volley ball and in these inter-class games the Sophomores beat the Freshmen, 2-0; the Seniors beat the Juniors, 2-1; and the Seniors won the game with the Sophomores 2-0. While the annual is being printed the girls will be busy in inter-class baseball and tennis but as yet only a good start has been made.

MANUAL ARTS

Some samples of work turned out in Manual Training Shop under the supervision of Mr. Linn.



Many of the more ambitious undertakings in the line of woodworking were made by the boys in manual training the first semester, and could not be photographed for the Annual because they had been given as Christmas presents.

In addition to making objects to be taken home or given to their friends, the boys in manual arts have produced useful articles for use about the school such as cupboards, scoreboards and hurdles.

HIGH - LARITY?

Friend—"Is your mother's new baby a boy or a girl?"
M. Batchelder—"It's a boy!"
Friend—"Well, that's nice! Is it going to stay?"
M. Batchelder—"I think so. He's got his things off."

M. Thomas: "I consider sheep the stupidest things."
B. Favri: "Yes, my lamb."

Miss Allen: "Lloyd, what is a detour?"
L. Hoff: "The roughest distance between two points."

It was a Scotchman in the football stadium who jumped up and shouted, "Hey, you there! Get that quarter back!"

Gerald: "Mr. Smith, did you ever hear a rabbit bark?"
Professor Smith: "Rabbits do not bark!"
Gerald: "But, Mr. Smith, my biology book says that rabbits eat cabbage and bark."

Landlord: "This room was formerly occupied by a chemist. He invented a new explosive."
Prospective Roomer: "I suppose those spots on the wall are the results of his experiments?"
Landlord: "Well, indirectly, yes. Those are the chemist."

It was a Bliss teacher who won first place in a national contest on the subject, "How I Teach Secretarial Work"—Secretarial Science is one of the courses taught at Bliss College.

High School Seniors interested should write for special bulletins on any of the following courses: Higher Accountancy, Business Administration, Stenotypy, Secretarial Science, Stenography, General Business, etc.

Special Summer Session will start after High Schools close. Already many have registered for the Fall Term—this is the time to receive information.

CLASS OF 1932

"Best wishes and continued success to each of you"

R. H. HALDERSON

Medina - Ohio

KENT STATE COLLEGE

sends greetings and good wishes to the Senior Class.

Although the college is already too big to be eager for a larger enrollment, since it has grown within four years from a college of 600 to 1325 students, it will make room and extend a welcome to Medina High School graduates who seek to enter and bring with them character, industry, ambition and the degree of intelligence needed to make good teachers.

If interested write for a bulletin, or visit the college and see the beauty of its campus, the high standing of its faculty of ninety-two members, the wide range of courses it offers in both Liberal Arts College, and Teachers' College. You may be pleasantly surprised, too, to learn how low the expenses are.

Yours sincerely,

J. O. ENGLEMAN, President.

Compliments and Congratulations to the fine class of 1932

Opportunities For High School Graduates

Suppose that just after you graduate from High School a good position—a position offering splendid opportunity for promotion and salary—were offered you; could you fill it, or would they be obliged to pass you by for someone with more technical training?

In these times, more than ever, the best trained people are being selected for the better positions. Put yourself in line for the better opportunities and make certain of position, promotion, income, influence, etc., by taking a high-grade business training.

This school can help you in planning your course and give you that broader and better business training that is being demanded of young people. Write or call for information about our Secretarial or Business Administration courses. Thousands of others have found success through this training. YOU CAN, TOO.
